1. INTRODUCTION

This document aims to compile, and track, all EU legislation and provisions - as well as major policy documents - on the rights of the child, including other documents of particular relevance to children. It also includes Commission proposals for legislation in order to provide an overview. This document is intended as a practical reference tool for Commission officials and other stakeholders and all documents referenced are hyperlinked. A full directory of EU acquis is available here: <http://eur-lex.europa.eu/en/consleg/latest/index.htm>.

This compilation is child-focused. Input has been sourced from the Directory referenced above, Commission lists on EU acquis, the Stockholm Programme mid-term review of 13 November 2012, Commission proposals mainstreamed by DG JUSTICE, consultation of members of the Commission's Interservice group on the rights of the child and various policy documents.

Note: The document is a work in progress and will be subject to change. Not all financial programmes are included and some chapters may lack content.

2. CONTEXT

The promotion and protection of the rights of the child is one of the objectives of the EU on which the Treaty on European Union (notably Article 3(3)) puts further emphasis. The rights of the child are also enshrined in the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union, where Article 24 of the Charter recognises that children are independent and autonomous holders of rights. Article 24 of the Charter also makes the child's best interests a primary consideration for public authorities and private institutions.

The Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union applies to Member States only when they are implementing EU law. The public authorities of the Member States – legislative, executive and judicial – are only bound to comply with the Charter when implementing EU law, notably when they are applying EU regulations or decisions or implementing EU directives. Judges in the Member States, under the guidance of the Court of Justice, have the power to ensure that the Charter is respected by the Member States only when they are implementing EU law.

If a situation does not relate to EU law, it is up to national authorities, including the courts, to enforce fundamental rights. Where the Charter does not apply, fundamental rights continue to be guaranteed at national level according to the national constitutional systems. Member States have extensive national rules on fundamental rights, the respect of which is guaranteed by national courts.

All Member States have made commitments under the European Convention of Human Rights, independently of their obligations under EU law. Therefore, as a last resort, and after exhausting all remedies available at national level, individuals may bring an action at the European Court of Human Rights in Strasbourg for violation by a Member State of a fundamental right guaranteed by the European Convention on Human Rights.

The European Court of Human Rights has designed an admissibility checklist in order to help potential applicants work out for themselves whether there may be obstacles to their complaints being examined by the Court.

In this context, following on from the Commission Communication of 4 July 2006 \(COM\(2006\)367 final\): towards an EU Strategy on the rights of the child, the European Commission adopted an EU Agenda for the rights of the child in February 2011, reaffirming the strong commitment of all EU institutions and of all EU Member States to promoting, protecting and fulfilling the rights of the child in all relevant EU policies. The EU Agenda recalled that the standards and principles of the United Nations Convention on the rights of the child must continue to guide EU policies and actions that have an impact on the rights of the child. Under general principles, the EU Agenda underlined that the EU's commitment to the rights of the child requires a coherent approach across all relevant EU actions...using the Treaties, the Charter of Fundamental Rights and the UNCRC as a common basis for all EU action relevant to children. Furthermore, the "child rights perspective" must be taken into account in all EU measures affecting children. In the conclusion of the EU Agenda, the Commission called on the EU institutions and on the Member States to renew their commitment to step up efforts in protecting and promoting the rights of children. The action of the EU should be exemplary in ensuring the respect of the provisions of the Treaties, the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union and of the UNCRC with regard to the rights of children and stated that the Commission will continue to play its part in joint efforts to achieve the well-being and safety of all children. A renewed commitment of all actors is necessary to bring to life the vision of a world where children can be children and can safely live, play, learn, develop their full potential, and make the most of all existing opportunities.

The order followed is aligned with the enlargement process chapters of the acquis.

4. EUROPE 2020

Europe 2020 is the EU's strategy to promote smart, sustainable and inclusive growth.

The EU has set ambitious objectives to be reached by 2020 in five main areas:

- Employment - 75% of the population aged 20-64 should be employed
- Innovation - 3% of the EU's GDP should be invested in Research & Development
- Climate change - the "20/20/20" climate/energy targets should be met (including an increase to 30% of emissions reduction if the conditions are right)
- Education - the share of early school leavers should be under 10% and at least 40% of 30-34 years old should have completed a tertiary or equivalent education
- Poverty - reduction of poverty by aiming to lift at least 20 million people out of the risk of poverty or exclusion

14. CHAPTER 22: REGIONAL POLICY AND COORDINATION OF STRUCTURAL INSTRUMENTS

(see also EUROPE 2020 section in this document)

14.1. EU Cohesion Policy 2014-20

In the context of the EU 2020 strategy, the flagship initiative “European Platform against Poverty”, as defined in the 2010 Communication, includes recognising the fundamental rights of people experiencing poverty and social exclusion, enabling them to live in dignity and take an active part in society. People with a disability are among the groups at particular risk for whose special circumstances Member States need to define and implement measures.

Measures for the shift from residential (institutional) to community-based care should be included as part of the national strategy for poverty reduction, the thematic ex-ante conditionality of the Common Provision Regulations of the next programming period 2014-2020. The general ex-ante conditionality on disability (“the existence of a mechanism which ensures effective implementation and application of the UN Convention on the rights of persons with disabilities”) reinforces the need for structural fund supported measures ensuring independent living⁵.

⁵ As at April 2013, both of these provisions are currently under discussion in the trilogue procedure.

- 14.2. Proposal for a Regulation of the European Parliament and of the Council of 6 October 2011 \(COM\(2011\)614 final\) on Specific provisions concerning the European Regional Development Fund and the investment for growth and jobs goal and repealing Regulation \(EC\) No 1080/2006

(see Article 3 on scope and Article 5 on investment priorities)

(Facilitating the transition from institutional to community-based care is part of the draft European Regional Development Fund (ERDF)⁶ regulation for 2014-2020; with a specific investment priority (Investing in health and social infrastructure which contribute to national, regional and local development, reducing inequalities in terms of health status, and transition from institutional to community-based services) referring to this measure.

Childcare facilities – in order to reinforce women's participation in the labour market, childcare facilities (crèche, kindergarten, etc.) should be available, in particular for marginalised groups.

Early childhood education and care facilities (crèche, kindergarten, primary school) should be available, in particular for marginalised groups in deprived areas.)

- 14.3. Proposal for a Regulation on the European Parliament and of the Council of 14 March 2012 \(COM\(2011\)607 final/2\) on The European Social Fund and repealing Council Regulation \(EC\) No 1081/2006

(see Article 3 on scope and Article 9 on thematic objectives)

(Relevant proposed thematic objectives include promoting employment and supporting labour mobility, promoting social inclusion and combating poverty, investing in education, skills and lifelong learning as well as the relevant investment priorities within them. These include in particular early childhood education; reducing early school leaving; reconciliation between work and private life; access to services, including health care and social services; community-led local development strategies; support to the regeneration of deprived areas and transition from institutional to community-based services)

Almost all articles apply to children as well as adults, but see in particular Article 24 specifically on the rights of the child

Article 24

The rights of the child

1. Children shall have the right to such protection and care as is necessary for their well-being. They may express their views freely. Such views shall be taken into consideration on matters which concern them in accordance with their age and maturity.
2. In all actions relating to children, whether taken by public authorities or private institutions, the child's best interests must be a primary consideration.
3. Every child shall have the right to maintain on a regular basis a personal relationship and direct contact with both his or her parents, unless that is contrary to his or her interests.

(The Conclusions urge action to improve the supply of adequate, affordable, high-quality childcare services for children under the mandatory school age with a view to achieving the objectives set at the European Council in Barcelona in March 2002, taking into account the demand for childcare services and in line with national patterns of childcare provision.)

15.20. Council Conclusions of 20 June 2011 on reconciliation of work and family life in the context of demographic change \(11841/11\)

(The Conclusions invite the Member States and the Commission to promote and set up several measures to tackle barriers to reconciling professional and private life. These measures included: (a) the promotion of flexible working arrangements and various forms of leave for both women and men (parental leave, possibility to work part-time); (b) the sufficient supply of affordable, high-quality childcare services and care facilities for other dependents; (c) encouraging employers to offer their employees childcare and other forms of family support and (d) taking into consideration the needs of families, and in particular those which are most vulnerable, including large or single-parent families.)

15.21. Council Conclusions of 2 December 2011 on the review of the implementation of the Beijing Platform for Action – women and the economy - reconciliation of work and family life as a precondition for equal participation in the labour market

(Call on the Member States to invest in early childhood education and care so as to lay the foundation of children's future learning, and to combat child and family poverty by stepping up or continuing efforts to effectively support the reconciliation of work, family and private life throughout the life course for both women and men, and to further improve the collection, analysis and dissemination of comparable EU data, in the area.)

15.22. Equal treatment – goods and services

15.23. Council Directive 2004/113/EC of 13 December 2004 implementing the principle of equal treatment between men and women in the access to and supply of goods and services

(the directive confers the right on both parents to take four months' parental leave each (8 months altogether))

15.26. Children with disabilities

15.27. Council Decision 2010/48/EC of 26 November 2009 authorising the Union to conclude the United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities

(The EU concluded the UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (UNCRPD)⁷ which entered into force in 2011. The Convention aims to ensure that all people with disabilities enjoy their rights on an equal basis with others and devotes specific attention to the rights of children with disabilities.

In this regard, the UNCRPD sets out obligations for state parties to take all necessary measures to ensure the full enjoyment of all human rights and fundamental freedoms by children with disabilities on an equal basis with other children (Art. 7 UNCRPD⁸), including the right to education, to care within the community, to health and to leisure activities.

In addition to Article 7, which is specifically devoted to children with disabilities, Article 16⁹ should be highlighted given that it makes a crucial reference to the measures that Member States must undertake in order to protect children with disabilities. Other articles referring to children explicitly include Article 3¹⁰, Article 18¹¹, Article 23¹², Article 24¹³, and Article 30¹⁴.

To ensure effective implementation of the UNCRPD across the EU, in November 2010 the Commission adopted the European Disability Strategy 2010-2020. – see below).

⁷ All EU Member States have signed the UNCRPD. As of October 2012 the Convention has been ratified by 23 Member States, while 18 have ratified its Optional Protocol. The table for Convention signatures and ratifications is available at http://treaties.un.org/pages/ViewDetails.aspx?src=TREATY&mtdsg_no=IV-15&chapter=4&lang=en. The table for Optional Protocol signatures and ratifications is available at: http://treaties.un.org/pages/ViewDetails.aspx?src=TREATY&mtdsg_no=IV-15-a&chapter=4&lang=en

In August 2008, the Commission adopted a proposal for a Council Decision on the EU accession to the Optional Protocol) (COM(2008) 530 final/2).

¹⁰ Respect for the evolving capacities of children with disabilities, as well as for their right to preserve their identities.

¹¹ Liberty of movement and nationality.

¹² Respect for home and family.

¹³ Education.

¹⁴ Participation in cultural life, recreation, leisure and sport.

19. CHAPTER 27: ENVIRONMENT

Some examples of environment legislation are provided. They do not explicitly mention children. However, they were framed with a sense that children would be amongst the main beneficiaries, particularly with regard to the safeguarding of human health in relation to environmental pollutants.

19.1. Acquis

19.2. Council Directive 92/72/EC of 21 September 1992 on air pollution by ozone

(Children are not explicitly mentioned, but the Ozone Directive aims at notifying populations of harmful ground level ozone exposure. The thresholds take account of vulnerable populations including children.)

19.3. Council Directive 98/83/EC of 3 November 1998 on the quality of water intended for human consumption

(introduced a stricter standard for lead, in line with WHO advice, in view of the detrimental effect on children's cognitive development of excessive levels of lead – see Recital 13)

19.4. Directive 2006/7/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 15 February 2006 concerning the management of bathing water quality and repealing Directive 76/160/EEC

(aims at eliminating or reducing the exposure of bathers to pollutants in bathing water. Although children are not specifically mentioned, the fact that bathers include children arguably has practical consequences for the Directive's interpretation (e.g. paddling in shallow water) – see Article 3 on monitoring: "The monitoring point shall be the location within the bathing water where: (a) most bathers are expected; ...")

19.5. Directive 2011/92/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council of 13 December 2011 on the assessment of the effects of certain public and private projects on the environment

(The Impact Assessment Directive gives the public concerned by a wide range of public and private projects (e.g. the execution of construction works or of other installations or schemes, or other interventions in the vicinity including those involving the extraction of mineral resources) a right to participate in decision-making. This includes projects that may raise health and safety concerns for children living in their vicinity.)

23. EUROPEAN COURT OF JUSTICE CASE LAW

This is the result of a rapid review by a DG JUSTICE lawyer of approximately 1200 cases where one of the words: "child, children, baby, babies, minor, minors, infant, infants" was mentioned. In principle all ECJ cases are relevant for children as much as for adults. For this reason, it was decided to include solely the cases where the ECJ decision or assessment has been particularly influenced by the fact that a child is involved in the case.

Other criteria used in drawing up this list (in line with European Commission policy):

- a child is a person 0-17
- We do not cover cases about unborn children
- There are a lot of cases concerning equal access to parental leave which naturally involve children. However, the Court has always approached this matter from the point of view of equality between men and women or balance of working and private life and these are not therefore included
- The vast majority of cases concern social security of workers, family benefits and child allowances. They are referenced as the Court has clearly determined that these kind of allowances are given for children's benefit and not for the workers themselves
- Trade mark disputes at OHIM do not impact children as they determine the IP rights and obligations only for the parties interested and as such do not provide higher protection to children

Reference for a preliminary ruling from the Court of Appeal (England and Wales) (Civil Division) (United Kingdom) - Regulation (EC) No 343/2003 (Dublin II) – Determining the Member State responsible for examining asylum applications lodged by unaccompanied minors who are third-country nationals – Several applications – Best interests of the minor

Question referred

In Regulation 343/2003/EC establishing the criteria and mechanisms for determining the Member State responsible for examining an asylum application lodged in one of the Member States by a third-country national (OJ L50 25 February 2003 p. I), where an applicant for asylum who is an unaccompanied minor with no member of his or her family legally present in another Member State has lodged claims for asylum in more than one Member State, which Member State does the second paragraph of article 6 make responsible for determining the application for asylum?

Judgment:

"The second paragraph of Article 6 of Council Regulation (EC) No 343/2003 of 18 February 2003 establishing the criteria and mechanisms for determining the Member State responsible for examining an asylum application lodged in one of the Member States by a third-country national must be interpreted as meaning that, in circumstances such as those of the main proceedings, where an unaccompanied minor with no member of his family legally present in the territory of a Member State has lodged asylum applications in more than one Member State, the Member State in which that minor is present after having lodged an asylum application there is to be designated the 'Member State responsible'.
